

Introducing MannoHealth D-Mannose. Because quality and purity matter.

Consumers are becoming more discriminating and educated about their dietary supplements. Their purchase choices can be influenced by the presence of branded ingredients on the label. With the global D-Mannose market projected to continue increasing, distinguishing your brand from the competition is essential.

BLS now offers MannoHealth because our customers — and their consumers — expect and deserve the highest quality ingredients. Made using our patented fermentation technology, our all-natural D-Mannose, branded as MannoHealth, is of the highest purity.

Plus, only MannoHealth is backed by our more than 30 years of industry experience developing scientifically based, all-natural, non-GMO ingredients that are of the highest quality and consistent from batch to batch.

MannoHealth Satisfies the Growing Consumer Preference for Non-GMO Ingredients

Mannose is a functional sugar derived from glucose. It is naturally occurring in the human body, and integral to human metabolism. It is popularly consumed as a dietary supplement for its well-researched urinary tract, digestive and immune health benefits. Heightened awareness of GMOs is linked to increased demand for non-GMO products and ingredients.

Non-GMO MannoHealth's benefits include:

- Supports overall digestive health
- Works as a prebiotic for a healthier gut microbiome
- Helps to maintain urinary tract health
- Supports the body's ability to detoxify and remove impurities
- Helps to promote a healthy immune system

Partnering With BLS Has Even More Advantages

We have the skills and talent to partner with you on formulation support, product concepts, quality and regulatory, and support your marketing and promotions. We value consumer education.
